“We were considering new office space prior to COVID-19, and as the year progressed, we carefully observed how our team functions. The need for office space to meet clients whether that is in person or video conferencing still exists as well as the ability to collaborate with other team members in a safe way,” said Jon Heine, Houston Market President. “Having just been recognized as one of Fortune’s 100 fastest growing companies, we found the timing to be perfect to add a west Houston location.”

The new lease is comprised of 12,200 square feet of office space and prominent vertical signage on the façade of Village Towers. The amenity rich property includes a gym, oversized conference center, ample dining options such as Masraff’s, Texadelphia, Treebeards, and more.
